Of Mr. Quay Mr. McVeagh said:

"I have no personal reason to speak of Mr. Quay otherwise than kindly, but even his most ardeut admirers will not pretend that he had furnished any evidence whatever of capacity to deal with the problems of politics in other than what is popularly called the most practical manner; and it is not going very far to say that he was selected by the leaders of the republican party in 1888 to manage their canvass because he was known not to be burdened with political scruples.

"Having made such a selection of chief they next furnished him with what such men jocosely call the sinews of war—that is immense sums of money to be expended by him without accountability to anybody and in such ways as he thought most likely to secure the results his employers desired. He even overpaid them, for he secured the appointment of Wanamaker—chief collecting agent of the canvass—to a cabinet office."

It is not only that such a measure involves a vast expense to the taxpayers, but it is that it destroys, at one blow, the very principle on which we must rely if we are to continue to be a republic—that is, trusting the people, in their different election districts to conduct their own elections and, if there is not sufficient virtue to be found there, it is not likely to be found in appointees of a political party, whether held in judicial office or any other. And the deadly blow they deal at popular confidence in our national judiciary would result in irremediable injury. All respect for elections would be destroyed, all confidence in predicted results reached at the polls would disappear and a presidential election must result in a very brief time in a resort to force by one party or the other, believing tastly the predicted of the political of the confidence of the product of the political of the political

CLEVELAND SENDS A CONTRIBUTION.

Eufaula, Ala., October 19.—(Special.)—In response to the local efforts to raise a small fund for Professor Frederick Nichols Crouch, the sgred composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen," who is reported in destitute circumstances, having never received a dollar for his famous song, the following was received here today from Ex-President Cleveland:

"Not to be published.

"Victoria Hotel, New York City, October 15th. 1892.—My Dear Sir: Your letter of October the 3d is at hand and I cheerfully enclose $5 as a donation to Professor Crouch, although, as you say, my charity tax is somewhat of a burden, I feel that I can well afford to aid you in your disinterested labor in behalf of one who has done so much for the entertainment of his fellows. Hoping that you may be eminently successful in your benevolent designs, very truly yours.

GROVER CLEVELAND."

After the letter was read Mr. Cleveland was immediately wired as follows:

"For the sake of the good it may do the aged composer, kindly withdraw by wire your objection to publication of your letter of the 15th." The answer came back promytly, "All right. Grover Cleveland."

The sum subscribed was forwarded free by express this afternoon to Professor Crouch at his home in Baltimore.

Commenting on Mr. Cleveland's action, The Daily Mail this afternoon, says: "It is additioual evidence of his worthiness of lofty state when is the midst of the grave concerns which engross him, he can stop to pity the sorrows of a poor old man."

Sharon, Ga., October 19.—(Special.)—
This afternoon the sheriff of this county brought John T. Ferguson before Justice Taylor on the charge of false swearing at the Raytown precinct on the 5th of October. He was challenged by the democrats on the grounds of not being in the county six months. He denied the charge, took the onth and voted.

The evidence was overwhelming that he came to the county on the 3d of May and was here only five months and two days when he voted. The defendant was bound over in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the February term of the superior court over in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the February term of the superior court of this county. Delivers an Address to a Large Audience In Lumpkin County.

Dahlonega, Ga., October 19.—(Special.)— Hon. Carter Tate, democratic nominee for congressional honors, addressed the citizens of Lumpkin county on the issues of the cam-paign yesterday at the dinner recess of the superior court.

paign yesterday at the dinner recess of the superior court.

Never in the history of Dahlonega did such a crowd ever greet a campaign speaker as was the one that greeted Mr. Tate yesterday. The large court room was crowded to its full rapacity, not even standing room being left inside, while the large portico in front of the building was packed full of anxious listeners, who gave the speaker their undivided attention.

Parson Pickett was here and today at the dinner hour gave the third party—what few of them are left in Lumpkin county—his usual speech. speech.

At the close of that administration, all sensible men admitted that the substantial and industrial interests of the country Douglassville, Ga., October 19.—(Special.)— Dr. G. W. Burnett, the defeated third party candidate for legislative honors of this county. candidate for legislative honors of this county, served, yesterday afternoon, Colonel Joseph G. Camp, democrat, who defeated him by seven votes, with a legal notice that he would contest said election on the 24th of this month. Colonel J. G. Camp, in return, served Burnett with a legal notice that he would also contest on the 22d instant. Quite a brilliant array of legal talent has been employed by either side, and the result is looked forward to with much interest.

Dr. Burnett is represented by Colonels John V. and J. M. Edge and H. L. McLarty, while Colonel Camp is represented by J. S. James, W. T. Poole, B. G. Griggs, W. A. James, C. D. Camp and W. T. Roberts, of the local bar, and Messrs, Frank O'Bryan and W. C. Glenn, of Atlanta. This contest will reveal several mysteries hitherto unknown and will prove conclusively that the democratic candidate was elected fairly. all sensible men admitted that the substantial and industrial interests of the country were perfectly safe in the hauds of the democratic party and thence forward it was recognized that the force bill was far too high high a price to pay for any benefits it was likely to secure. It was not, however, until the Lodge bill disclosed in its full enormity what such a proposition involved that the plain people made up their minds that they would not have it nor anything resembling it; for they then discovered that it involved an absolute reversal of the underlying principle of our liberties, that of local self government, self government in the matter of elections. If in such a matter the people cannot be trusted nobely can be trusted.

Heretofore the people have most successfully managed that mattr fr themselves by allowing each political party, in each election district, to elect one inspector, and the domenant political party elect the judges. But the force bill would provide that the circuit court judges of the United States, only eighteen in number should take away from the people the right of conducting their own elections and appoint the persons designated by them to discharge the most grave and important function on the proper discharge of which all sanctions of free government depends.

It is not only that such a measure involves a vast expense to the taxpayers, but it is that it destroys, at one blow the very

Why General Catlin Resigned.

New York, October 19.—General Isaac S. Catlin, nominated for congress by the democrats of the third district, has declined. He gives as a reason the fact that he is ineligible for the place because he is on the retired list of the regular army and the recipient of a pension. He has been informed by the attorney general of the United States that his acceptance of the office would vacate his place on the retired list of the army, and in consequence he would forfeit his emoluments.

All Disguise Thrown Off.

Opelika, Ala., October 19.—(Special.)—
To offset the effect of General Stevenson's speech here yesterday Bob Moseley, chairman of the republican state executive committee, over his own signature has made an appointment for Kolb, Bowman and the negro, Miller, of South Carolina, to speak here from the same platform on the 22d instant. All disguise is thrown off and these worthies are canvassing the state under the aupices of the republicans.

TESTIMONY OF MEN APPROACHED

Giving the Full Details of the Plans By By Which the State Was to Have Been Delivered to the Third Party.

Raleigh, N. C., October 19.-Special.)-A sensation today is the complete exposure of the Order of Gideonites in North Chairman Simmons, of the democratic state executive committee makes it and gives as proof letters from M. L. Reed, of Ashville, and J. S. Bell, of Camden county. Reed swears that S. Otho Wilson was grand chief of the order when he was initiated and that there were congressional district chiefs and county chiefs. Reed was initiated by Wilson, who had then just returned from Indianapolis. Wilson was a great alliance worker and in that guise was working for the third party and organizing the Sons of Gideon. Reed says the penalty for failure to obey the obligations is very severe.

Bell makes a complete exposure, stating that Wilson last December urged him to become a member, the conversation being in the presence of James Brinson, alliance jecturer of the first district. Bell said he could not consent to join unless Wilson first revealed fully the character and purpose of the order. Wilson then gave details and also read the obligations he wished Bell to take.

The latter found there were to be only thirty members in each county or 300 in each congressional district, and all specially chosen for influence and men who could be relied upon in an emergency. It was made the duty of all to implicitly obey all orders of supervisors.

Wilson stated that the purpose of the organization was to further the third party movement. Bell told Wilson that he regarded the organization as very dangerous and that it would result in the extinction of the alliance and defeat of the third party. Wilson said he had made Reed chief of the ninth district and that Brinson would be chief of the first district.

Democrats today call upon the grand jurors to present Wilson and those who have joined with him in this outrageous violation of the state law and constitution. The latter instrument prohibits absolutely any secret organizations of any kind. Arrests are liable to be made at any time and will, if made, result in the greatest sensation of this remarkable exciting campaign.

Democrats are extremely indignant. Chairman Simmons says that until publication of these letters there was no tangible proof of the existence of Gideon's but that they are now conclusive that the people will rebuke the desperate agitators who dare introduce that organization into North Carolina.

and a large number of forged tickets also. The school children this morning celebrated "Columbus Day." Youthful enthusiasin was given the widest play. A committee representing the state and city superintendents had arranged a programme for the celebration in the public schools and the children executed this order of exercises with a vim when the school opened. No union or concentration of pupils was attempted but the exercises began simultaneously in scores of school buildings. The rooms were all decorated approriately to the occasion which was to commemorate the great discoverer.

The First exercise was the reading of President Harrison's proclamation. This was follewed by a flag raising and the pupils saluted the colors. They also pledged their allegiance to the flag in concert and sang "America."

The next few hours of the programme was the reading of the scriptures or some acknowledgement of the Divine Being. The schools then joined in singing "Columbus Day," after which the programme was varied according to the grade. In the primary grade the little ones recited patriotic verses and sang longs, while in the grammar and high school grades historical essays were read, declamations delivered and also singing.

Ralsigh's Big Blow-Out.

Raleigh's Big Blow-Out.

Raleigh, N. C., October 19.—(Special.)—
There were thousands of people at the state fair grounds today and despite the dust there was much enjoyment. The Indians, cowboys and Mexican proved a special attraction. It is thought that tomorrow's attendance will rival that of yesterday, as a great many visitors are coming in. The centennial event tought in the city was the fireworks, which were viewed by 15,000 people, the display taking place in one of the public parks near the capitol. There were some fine set pieces, among them a portrait of the city s patron, Sir Walter Raleigh. The general display was especially handsome. The first of the two centennial balls was held this evening.

The Stand Collapsed.

West Winstead, Conn., October 19.—Six hundred school children were seated on a temporary seat, fifteen feet high, this afternoon rhearsing for the Columbus celebration on Friday, when the benches collapsed and 300 children fell to the floor. Many received broken limbs, but none were killed. All the doctors in the town are in attendance upon the wounded. There is great excitement and much indignation at the shiftless carpenters to whose faulty work the accident is attributed.

NANCY AT NASHVILLE. The Fast Little Mare Makes the Mile in Nashville, Tenn., October 10.—The rain made the track a trife heavy today and the air was not favorable for record breaking. Owing to the long programme—it was nearly 50 clock p m before Nancy. Hanks appeared for her tilt against time, and as the sun had fillen below the surrounding hills the atmosphere was raw and damp. Under the conditions, good judges placed 2:96 as the best that could be expected, but once more the little mare was equal to the unexpected performance. Going away at the first attempt, the quarter was reached in 31 1-2 seconds, and the half mile pole in 1:02 1-4. Then for the first tilme Doble gave her free rein and covering the two-quarter n 30 1-4 seconds, she was at the pole in 1:02 1-2.

"She will beat the record," shouted the crowd, but the heavy footing and raw atmosphere began to have effect and she finished the mile, strong and true, in 2:05. All things considered it was the greatest performance in her career. All things considered it was performance in her career.

Homestead, Pa., October 19.—The discharge of a revolver on Fourth avenue early this morning aroused the people. John Mechling, a non-union man, was found on the sidewalk bleeding from a wound in the head. He had a revolver in his hand and stated that he had been assaulted on nis way home by two men, one of whom knocked him down with a club. Mechling drew a revolver and fired. The men ran away.

Logan Jones, inspector in the one-hun-logan Jones, inspector in the one-hun-logan Jones, inspector in the one-hun-logan Jones, inspector in the one-hundred-and-nineteen-inch mill, was knocked down and his head was cut by a blow from behind, as he was on his way home from the mill at about 1 o'clock this morning. She Had Thought Um Dead. Nashville, Tenn., October 19.—(Special.)—iss Annie Richardson yesterday met her ther, whem she had mourned as dead for father, whem she had mourned as dead for thirty years.

Major William Richardson was before the late war sent to the state insane asylum, having lost his mind through a wound received in the Mexican war. He escaped from the asylum and his family was informed that he was dead. He was recaptured, however, and his family never notified. Miss Richardson learned that her father is alive through a friend asking her as to his health, and she at once called on him.

Three Years In the Penitentiary.
Dahlonega, Ga., October 13.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon John Parker, who has been confined in Lumpkin county jail for several months on the charge of burglary, was brought into court and pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Welborn to a term of three years in the penitentiary.

About eighteen months ago Parker and his son-in-law, Hen Harpus, robbed a house belouging to William Skyrlne at the Leol and Adams gold mine, Harpus pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from the house at a pryot term of the court and was fined, and his friends paid him out. Dr. Bell Very Budly Hurt. Elberton, Ga., October 19.—(Special.)—Dr. D. P. Bell, who was so severely injured in a runaway affair on the streets of Elberton on the 18th instant, is still in a very prearious condition.

The attending physicians do not express much hope of his recovery. He is a very popular young man and has just been elected to the legislature by an overwhelming majority. The sad accident has cast a gloom over the community.

And Met With Big Opposition and Warm Endorsement.

Sent in by Candidates Who Won't Abide by the Work Done-How the Meeting Originated.

SOME VERY SALTY SHORT CARDS

It was cold coffee that most Atlantians drank yesterday morning. ,

And the coffee grew cold and chilly while the Atlantians were learning through he Constitution that a body of representative citizens had made a ticket for aldermen and councilmen to be voted for at the primary.

It wasn't because the coffee sippers were opposed to the ticket laid upon their breakfast table through The Constitution, but because of-The suddenness of the thing.

Many breathed shorter and quicker as they read the story, while as many produced a broader smile as their eyes went down the lines telling the story of the neeting in the Adair Bros.' office.

Only a few, a very few, of the people had any intimation that a meeting of that kind had even been contemplated and but for The Constitution a smaller few would ever have heard of it until the two days had gone by and the "declaration" formed at the meeting had been given gratuitously to the papers.

Of all those who studied the ticket or the production of the ticket, whether it suited or not, every one had a desire to know why those who made the ticket came together and why those who first heard of it through The Constitution had not been invited to take part in the work. And there hangs the interesting story. How Came About.

Early last week two heavy financiers and a banker casually met on the corner of Alabama and Broad streets and during the conversation the political campaign came up.

"It's a pity," sald one of them, "that we &c't manage this matter in such a way that the city treasury can be taken out of politics." The other two chimed in with the speaker and the refrain as it came from their lips was in perfect harmony. But before the echoes died away a meeting had been arranged. That meeting took place last Thursday-one week ago tonight_at Adair Brothers' office

Just why Adair Bros.' was selected no one seems to know, but when the gas that night threw its shadows upon the wall only five figures could be outlined. Twe of those shadows only remain-the other three having evaporated. One shadow, as seen yesterday, strongly resembled Mr. T. B. Neal, the banker, while the other looked like a life-size photograph of Mr. G. B. Adair. The quintette talked long and earnestly and concluded that a representative ticket should be put out-a ticket composed of gentlemen who had the re spect of all and who had the nerve to "Take the city treasury out of politics." But for a time no one seemed able to ell just how that kind of a ticket should be formulated. Finally one of the quintette said:

"Let's meet here again Saturday night and discuss the matter again. In the meantime each one of us will talk with our own friends and have some of them here with us."

That proposition was feasible and it was adopted by the quintette just as the gas was doused.

Arranging for the Meeting

Friday and Saturday those five gentlemen shook hands with such friends as they wanted, quietly whispering the words of an invite, and Saturday night an even thirty met again in the Adair Bros.' offices Mr T. B. Neal was made chairman and the discussion started by the original five was resumed. During the discussion, however, a count of noses showed that the wards were unequally represented and that one ward had no representation at all. That broken by one-thirtieth of those pre

Monday morning a party of gentlemen, many of whom had been at the Saturday meeting, met at Mr. Hugh Inman's office and after a brief discussion endorsed all that had been done Saturday night. That increased the ardor of all and the full five in each ward were asked to come to a meeting Treatary night.

ing Tuesday night,
That's just how that meeting came about.

But when the gentlemen began work Tuesday night in Adair Bro's office they found that some wards had more than seven, the number contemplated, while others had less. Then upon a comparison of notes they found some gentlemen present who had not been invited and ascertained that two of the original twos, Mr. Oglesby and Mr. Kiser were not present. Of course they couldn't ask any one who had re-sponded to leave, and after a discussion lecided to go to work, giving each ward en votes instead of eight as was at first

The work of the meeting is well known. For and Against.
But just what the result will be none can

All the gentlemen who were present, except those from the fourth ward, and Mr. Rosser, of the first, and possibly Mr. Dooly, are for the ticket and there are many Atlantians who will join them, if expression of opinions on the streets during the day are to be taken as an index. Yet the same index shows that that ticket will have a rough road to travel. The paper which was issued to the public suggesting and endorsing the ticket was left at the Neal bank for signatures. Early in the morning it was laid out for the people to sign, but during the day less than forty names were added to those who signed at the

The gentlemen, however, who were in the meeting are assidously at work for the combination and say that it is a good one They are now talking the matter and de-

"That's no nomination," said Captain W.
D. Ellis. "We simply came together and after careful consideration suggested those names. It is not obligatory upon any one to vote for them at the primary. Any other set of men may get together and suggest no desire to lock any one out but came to gether for a conference. Its simply a case of vox populi behind these candidates. I believe they are all good men and I shall vote for them.

Judge W. R. Hammond, another member of the caucus, remarked:
"It was only to get a good ticket. Non of us have any ax to grind and I think we can safely recommend every man there as a good man who will do his work well.

Any other party of gentlemen have a right to do the same thing we have done." The other members of the committee who out out the ticket, except Judge Rosser and the fourth ward element, talk the same way. Mr. H. H. Cabiness's words echo their sentiments.
"Its a good ticket," said he, "and I'll vote for it at the primary. If others want to put out tickets let 'em do so. Our action don't prevent any one from running." The Proposed Mass Meeting.

But those who don't want the ticket are at work industriously and say they won't have it. The first active opposition to it came in the way of a circular wheh was passed around extensively yesterday. It read this WARD MEETINGS Tominate a Municipal Ticket.

Editor Constitution: Allow me to enter a protest against the arrogant action of the meeting of some selfconstituted guardians of the municipal offices of the city of Atlanta as published in your paper of the 19th instant. Was not the committee composed of the best element of our citizens? Were they not faithful to their trusts? Who can deny that they were? and when that committee recognized that the sentiment of the whole city was strongly in favor of a primary and not for the selection of candidates by the committee, they decided in favor of a primary, and now these "righteous judges" in a secret meeting are seeking to subvert the action of the committee and insult the inelligence of he voters of this city by intimating that they cannot vote intelligently enough to select good men for the council, but that "we the selfappoined guardians of your votes," will direct you how to vote and whom to vote for.

Voters of this great city of Atlanta, will you lie supinely upon your backs and allow the gag law to be applied to the honest expression of your votes? We have no criticism to make against the "candidates" who were offered to the voters, beaouse we infer that their good judgmen would have advised them to let that meeting severely alone, bu we do submit that there are enough good and true men who have already announced themselves as candidates and who, if elected, will serve the city well without forcing men into the race to suit, perchance, the wishes of office seekers, and make that meeting smack strongly of a ring.

We denounce it as a "Star Chamber" work, and the best evidence of it is that they were not open and above board about it, and would not invite the public in a published and fair manner to participate.

Let the voters of Atlanta rise up and show to the world that a handful of men cannot appoint themselves "keepers of the municipal offices" of this ci

Jeffries occasionally drinks, but rarely gets drank. Yesterday, however, he left lown pretty full. About two calles from his home in a strip of woods on the ros is de so was found by friends intoxicated.

It was soon found out that he had been robbed, although no evidence of criminal violence was detected. The persons evidently were acquainted with his condition and used it to advantage.

No clue to the perpetrators, although four negroes have been jalled today on suspicion. He offers a reward of $500 for the retura and no questions asked.

To see Jeffries personally one would not suppose that he owned a dollar in the world, yet everybody knew that he had money from his frequent business transactiona, and that he possessed the peculiarity of trusting no one with its keeping, but kept it securely concealed in a belt and pocket, about his own person. This error of yesterday proved the fallacy of this and cost him the hard carnings of a lifetime after close and rigid economy. The old fellow who has for many years been a citizen of this county feels his loss keenly. Detectives are at work on the case and it is hoped that the liberal reward offered will enable them to successfully ferret out the robery and bring the guilty to their just punishment and also the recovery of his effects.

MR. BROSS NOT FOUND YET.

Greenesboro, Ga., October 19.—(Special.)—
The mystery surrounding the disappearance of the contractor, Mr. Bross, which wastated in yesterday's Constitution, has not yet cleared away, although there has been a slight clue gained as to his whereabouts.

A negro living on the Pennfeld road claimed that he met a man answering the description. A negro living on the Penfield road claimed that he met a man answering the description of Mr. Bross beyond Shiloh church, six miles from Greenesboro, last Sunday evening about dusk. He had a short conversation with the regro and in it said that he had lost his way and inquired the road to Greenesboro. He appeared to be very weak and said he had had no food that day. His description of the man he met answers well to that of Mr. Bross, who is about five feet ten, alightly built, with sandy beard mixed with gray. He has a hesitating manner of speaking and was dressed in a dark suit of clothes.

He left the negro and came in the director of Greenesboro. The roads fork, however, one going to Scull shoals, this side of where he was met, and it is possible he again loss his way.

one going to Scall shoals, this side of where he was met, and it is possible he again lost his way.

Mr. Bross was wounded in the head during the war and occasionally his mind wanders. It is now thought that it was while thus suffering that he strayed away. The theory of murder is giving way to this view and the men under arrest will doubtless be released.

It is feared now that he has been overcome by weakness from not eating and has fallen somewhere in the woods. Search is being made in every direction from where he was last seen, but no further clue has yet been obtained.

The whole matter is shrouded in deepest mystery.

Macon's New Charter.

As outlined in The Constitution sometime ago, a movement is on foot to have a new charter for the city of Macon put through the next legislature.

At its regular meeting last night the city council passed a resolution appointing the mayor and three aldermen a committee with power and authority to take such steps as they may deem necessary in the interest of the city to secure the proper legislation looking to a new charter. A canvass of the city made by The Evening News today shows that there is a very de-

KILLED HIS LITTLE BROTHER

A Deplorable Accident Which Brought Sor row to Dr. Robbins' Home. Greenesboro, Ga., October 19.—(Special.) A fatal accident occurred in this county yesterday afternoon by which the seven-year-old son of Dr. J. R. Robins was shot and killed by his thirteen-year-old brother. The facts, as far as your correspondent has been able to gather them, are as folhas been able to gather them, are as follows:

Near Dr. Robins's home, which is in the Walker church neighborhood, is an old house which he formerly used as an office. It has not been occupied in many years, but the children have used it as a playroom, entering it through a window.

Yesterday the two boys after dinner went in there to play. The oldest brother, Wilkins, in searching through the room came across a self-acting, thirty-eight caliber revolver. It had been there a long time, forgotten by the doctor and the family. The little boy naturally supposed it was empty and harmless and began snapping it at his little brother John. Suddenly there was a flash and loud report and John with a scream fell to the floor. Dr. Robins heard the report and rushed into the room to find his son bleeding and dying. He picked him up and carried him into the house, but the child died in a very few minutes, not speaking after being shot. The ball entered the right side below the ribs, and ranging upward, passed through the entire body and came out above the left shoulder joint.

Dr. Robins is the candidate for congress on the people's party ticket. The deplorable accident was a great blow to him and his family, and they have the earnest and deepest sympathies of all our people in the sudden and great sorrow, which has come upon them.

And His Degenrate Son. Editor Constitution: Jacobs's pharmacy

Editor Constitution: Jacobs's pharmacy persists in using the daily press to defame the Germetuer company. It hopes by this fileans to create sympathy for itself before the day of revelation. It is equivalent to saying, "If we are guilty of an unmitigated fraud, we have defrauded a company which does not deserve much from the public." In all this we see the hand of a descendant of of the original Jacob. It is evident that the only feature in the character of that ancient Jew which his degenerate son cares to reproduce is his capacity to get the property of other jeople without paying an honest consideration. The original Jacob repented of his dishonesty when he saw that his injured brother was about to bring him to justice. He repented and became a good and great man. The modern Jacob will be brought to justice, but it remains to be seen whether, in his dire distress, he will follow the example of his ancient sire.

How this commercial trickster holds himself up to public contempt and reprobation when, after buying and selling carloads of Germetuer, he confesses that he knew it to be a cheap and worthless compound. Germetuer has a record that cannot be overthrown. Its unpurchased and unpurchasable witnesses are counted by the thousand. It has a place in materia medica as fixed as that of quinine or mercury. It has nothing to fear from the opposition of a man whose commercial transactions show that he would rather own it than any medicine on the American market.

is evident that Mr. Thomas Watson is becoming desperate. In an incendiary speech delivered at Stellaville he has overleaped all former records in his bid for votes. At this meeting there were about seven or eight hundred third party men and women present. About one-third of the crowd was from Burke county. His speech wa very incendiary. E. G. MOORE.

Editor Contitutnois OMR., chaoacablotthi Editor Constitutnois There appeared in yesterday's "Daily Citizen," a statement made by Mr. Michael Lynch, a horseshoer, which if left undenied, would place me in a false position. It is true Mr. Lynch was in my employ during October, 1891, and did come from Boston at my request, with the understanding that I was paying men from $2.50 to $4 per day for skilled men. Mr. Lynch applied to me for a position, was employed by me at a salary of $2.75 per day. He worked for me at that amount until March the following year, when he had a dispute and a fight with one of my men and demanded the discharge of his opponent, which I refuse to do, when Mr. Lynch voluntarily left my employ, and was gone for about ten days when he retured and worked just one week. Then without any notice to me he again voluntarily left my employ, after I had carried him through the winter, which is our dullest season. While it is true that the best horseshoers are worth $4 per day, and I would rather pay for a good man $4 per day than $2 for a cheap man, but I could not afford to $2 for a cheap man, but I could not afford to price. Mr. Lynch was absolutely incompetent for my business. Mr. Lynch was in a constant wrangle with some of my employes—fussy and hard to please. If he could not have his own way he was always ready to quit or go off at a tangent. The insinuations of Mr. Lynch hat I employ tramps is absolutely and unqualifiedly false, and without any foundation whatever. My shop is run by union men, and the very best mechanics that money will hire. As an evidence that my business is not dropping off as stated by Mr. Lynch, I will state that my business is better now than it has been since I have been in the business, and I have put on within the last thirty days two extra men, and could work another competent man if I could find one. I have worked hard to build up a first class horseshoeing business in this city, and I congratulate myself that I have built up a business that is second to none this s of The Constitution job office, and beginning another year under most favorable circustances.

The fire started in the engine room, a building about 40x60 feet, and had gained such headway before discovered that it was impossible to save it, and it was only by heroic work that the main building was saved. The stream from the hose got to playing on it by half-past 7 and by 8 the fire was fully conquered.

The factory is one of the most important manufacturing establishments here. It was burned entirely up in 1878, but was promptly rebuilt and has been remarkably prosperous. The loss tonight will not be over $5,000, of which $2,500 is machinery. The loss is about half covered by insurance in several companies in the schedule plan. The company will repair loss as quickly as possible and begin work anew.

A STORY IN WHICH A BIBLE PLAYS PART

One Soldier Pays the Other One a Visit and They Talk Over Old Times-The Bible and the Cartridges.

Douglasville, Ga., October 19.—(Special.) Three miles west of Douglasville lives John D. Pope, a battle-scarred confederate veteran who is today enjoying more real hap-piness than has befallen many of the old veterans since the war.

piness than has befallen many of the old veterans since the war.

Mr. Pope, who is known to The Douglasville New South, was a member of Company G, Forty-Second Georgia volunteers, and at the battle of Winchester, in September 1864, it so happened that in the deadly conflict the Forty-Second Georgia confronted the Forty-Second New York regiment. Pope used up all of his cartridges, and his gun had got so hot and foul he could hardly use it. Seeing a dead yankee with his gun lying beside him, he threw down his own gun and took up the yankee's. While stooping to take off the dead man's cartridge box, he was shot in the top of the shoulder, the ball coming out at the small of his back. Pope fell by the side of the yankee soldier and lay there for hours totally unconscious. When consciousness returned the battle was over, and save the groans of the wounded and dying the stillness of death reigned over the field of carnage. Exerting all his strength the wounded confederate raised himself on his hands and knees, and seeing a small pocket Bible laying by the dead yankee, he placed it in his pocket and crawled away. He was taken up by the ambulance corps, carried to a hospital and finally got well enough to come home, but has never gotten over his terrible wound and never will.

On examining the Bible he found by the gotten over his terrible wound and never will.

On examining the Bible he found by the dead yankee, he discovered that it belonged to John H. Coe, of Company G, Forty-Second New York regiment, and had been presented to him by his father, giving the name and address of Coe's father. The coincidence of the letters of the companies and the numbers of the regiments to which the two men belonged, being the same, and their both being shot down on the same spot impressed Pope very much, and he decided it was his duty to let the parents of the dead yankee boy know the fate of their son. So, about twenty years ago, he wrote to the boys father in New York, telling him how and where his boy had died, and telling him that he had his Bible, and would send it back on receipt of instructions how to send it. Pope never heard anything from his letter until about two months ago, when a letter came, inclosing a cabinet photograph of a fine looking business man, with the name of John H. Coe, Ottumwa, Iowh, attached. It transpires that the yankee boy was not dead, as Pope thought, but that he was taken off the field, got well, and after the war went to Iowa to live.

About two months since he was looking over some old papers left by his parents and found the old letter received from Pope twenty years ago. He immediately wrote to Pope, telling him of his narrow escape from death on the field at Winchester, of his slow recovery, removal to Iowa, his business success, etc., since the war and asked that his old Bible be returned to him. Pope replied, asking Coe to come to see him and telling him that if he wanted the Bible to play the old soldier again and come and take it and eat "hard-tack" with him for awhile. Mr. Coe, being a wealthy business man of Iowa, and having nothing to hinder, decided he would make a raid into Georgia and capture John Pope and his "hard-tack," and recapture his old Bible, taken from him dring the war. Last Saturday morning Pope received a telegram from Chattanooga signed by Mr. Coe, telling him he would be crying between men who were total stran-gers to each other has rarely been seen.

(Communicated.) Does Coweta Want the Earth. From The Augusta Evening News:

Does Coweta county want the earth? And if she does, ought she to have it?

These questions are fairly pertinent to the hip race, which Chairman W. Y. At kinson, of the state democratic executive committee, has forced on Hon. William H. Fleming. The Evening News says this is in justice to Mr. Fleming and in all friendliness to Mr. Atkinson. It is well known that Mr. Fleming was first in the race, and he did Mr. Fleming was first in the race, and he did not announce his candidacy until he had con-sulted Mr. Atkinson and other legislative friends. The latter's appearance in the race was a surprise, and although he is running on the prestige gained by his official chairmanship of the state committee, this will hardly avail with legislators where they look the facts in the face and decide on the merits of the two leading candidates.

Indeed, it does not come with good grace the face and decide on the merits of the two leading candidates.

Indeed, it does not come with good grace from a man who has already been so well rewarded with public offices to grasp after everything. And this brings us to our first query. Coweta county now has the congressman from the fourth district, Mr. Mosses; State Senator, Mr. Pinson; a candidate for Judge of the Circuit court, Mr. Turner,; the candidate for solicitor general, in the person of Hon. W. Y. Atkinson's own brother, and the chairman of the state democratic executive committee in the person of Hon. W. Y. Atkinson himself. The query is very pertinent, it seems, and it is intimated very strongly that Mr. Atkinson is already in the race to succeed Governor Northen. It appears therefore, that Mr. Atkinson himself would like a good large slice of the earth, Ought he not rather be satisfied for the present with his two years' chairmanship and the honor of the recent state victory, and give way in the speakership race to a friend and associate who has worked for the party unrewarded and just as hard in the ranks as hard honored chairman on the top round of the ladder?

HOME BUILDING.

The property owner at Manchester who wishes to build will find a very active and useful co-operation on the part of the owners and managers of this charming young town.

and managers of this charming young town.

There are a great many things that have been learned from the experience of those already settled there which have been carefully digested by the watchful management. The construction of the great public institutions, the colleges and schools, the enlistment of most of the contractors and architects and workers in the welfare of the place and their genuine and practical interest in its growth—all these things make up a combination of circumstances which have reduced the cast of construction and house building to a minimum.

It is undoubtedly true that it is cheaper

It is undoubtedly true that it is cheaper now to build a good house than it has ever been in southern history.

This is the status now, but in the promise of a gradual and steady increase of proper-ty values, the cost of construction will also increase. It will be very much more expensive to build a house next year than this. It will perhaps cost even more the

And so if you have any money or can get hold of any money by honest means on easy terms, don't fail to build during the present fall. There will scarcely come again in our decade such an opportunity for home building as the present time.

There are hundreds of men who regret that they did not follow their faith and in-clinations in the early days of the boom period and get rich before it closed. We are not going to have another boom period-never again we hope-but we are going to re-enter an era of steady prosperity and de-velopment, and there will be just as many regrets wasted over lost opportunities in this time as in the recent and more enhusi-

The Indian summer gives yet two months, eight good weeks, for building in the best weather of the year. The weather that dries lumber and cei ing and plasterings, and enables carpenters to make the houses that have no cracks and no dampness in winter. It seasons building material and is essentially the season for building.

Major Rousseau, the genial old architect and contractor who has in hand the differ-ent buildings, public and private in Man-chester, has had an experience as varied and extensive as any man of his vocation in the south. His resources in taste and design are almost boundless, and his plans include everything from a four-room cottage to a mansion.

Sherman and the State Banks. n a recent speech John Sherman, the can financial statesman, rereat republican financial states. the notes of the state banks to get rid of the mass of paper which had been issued under the of the various states—to cut the s is what Mr. Sherman says now, it it is a notorious fact that he is giv making "temporary statements" interest of his party, to be corcted when a correction can do no arm. If John Sherman is an interest dly ignores the truth, even when ald serve his purpose just ent tax was adopted in order to all the state banks, to become natenaks, so that the government dispose of its bonds. The real of the matter is that the government even under the grining pressure found the utmost all finally in that its national bank system was the proper remedy. The people were per-fectly well satisfied with their state bank system, which was the result of long years of development. They were so well satisfied, in fact, that it was only after long and exasperating delays that Secretary Chase was enabled to carry the national bank system through; and when it was adopted it was a copy of the state bank system of New York, and remains so to this day.

The Evening Post, which has looked into the history of Mr. Chase's efforts, says that he had to apply a species of coercion to congress. He withheld the pay of the soldiers for months on the plea of no funds, reminding congress at the same time that if his banking system were adopted he would be able speedily to pay everybody. Under these rcumstances congress finally adopted the bank bill, but the conversion of state banks into national banks was so slow and uncertain that the 10 per cent tax was brought forward afterwards as a separate measure. Even then it went through the house only by the casting vote of the speaker, and through the senate by a majority of only two.

The struggle to establish the national banks ran through two years and during all that time no friend of the national bank system ever brought forward the argument that the state banks ought to be suppressed because they were bad, or because they issued wild-cat notes.

We believe John Sherman would be much greater man than he is if he could be induced to tell the truth in politics.

Brother Blaine at Ophir. Mr. Blaine's bid for the Irish vote ha not met with the response that was expected. Some of the most prominent Irishmen in the country have repudiated the spirit of it, and there is a general feeling that the tone of the speech was in the nature of an insult to a very sensative race. No insult was intended, but it is easy to see by Mr. Blaine's appeal places a very low estimate on the intelligence and patriotism of Irish-Americans.

There is no doubt that Mr. Blaine making his speech in a low state of health presumed on his popularity with the Irish voters, a piece of bad taste he would not have been guilty of under more favorable circumstances. Undoubtedly there has seemed to be at times certain elements in Mr. Blaine's character enti tling him to the admiration of those who believe in America and in the American spirit. On one or more occasions he has struck a note in polities that even called for the applause of the southern demo

But these occasions have been few and far between. Mr. Blaine has not been able to maintain that fine audacity which is a mark of genius as well as statesmanship. At the most critical mo ments of his career the spirit of office seeking has overtaken him and he has suc cumbed to the demands of partisanship As a partisan, Mr. Blaine is a very con mon-place person indeed, and as such he cannot hope to have the admiration of his Irish-American fellow-citizens or of any citizen touched with the American citizen. It is only when he has risen superi to the sectionalism of his party and to his tory environments that he has won or deserved the admiration of those whose good opinion is worth something Mr. Blaine, as one of the tags on the tail of the Harrison kite, cuts a very sorry figure indeed.

A New Cotton-Picking Machine. Word comes through The Dallas News that at last a machine has been invented which will pick cotton. We trust that the enthusiasm of our contemporary has something substantial to go upon, for the time has arrived when successful cotton-picker would be a great boon to the cotton planters of the

It is pretty well settled in the minds of those who give the subject serious thought that hereafter the cotton-growers of the south will be compelled to reap the bulk of their profits out of cheaper processes of production, and it is precisely in the methods of gathering the crop that invention can bring economy to bear. When the crop is ready to gather there is always a scarcity of labor, owing to the demand, and the cost of picking by hand, with the waste that ensues by reason of delay, forms a large part of the expense of the crop. The machine which The Dallas News i welcoming is called the Todd cotton-picking machine, and it is now at work in the cotton fields near that city. It seems to be a modification of or an improvement in the machine that was experimented with in South Carolina a few years ago, and it is to be hoped that f will meet the expectations of the pub-

The Dallas News says it as difficul to give a clear description of the machine. It is supported by two large, wide tracking wheels and drawn by two horses. Between the wheels are two revolving upright cylinders covered with short revolving spindles, set with rows of bristles. In operating the machine the two large wheels straddle a row of cotton, the stalks passing between the two cylinders. The spindles revolve rapidly, and, pressing against the opened bolls istles catch the lint and twist it out of the burrs. As the cylinders turn around it is raked off the spindles by bristled scrapers upon the elevator belts, which carry it over the machine into two large bags. The machine looks as if it would tear a stalk of cotton to pieces, but such is not the case. The News reporter examined rows of cotton after eeing them picked, and could not find an injured stalk-not even an injured boll or bloom. Several blooms were examined closely and not one of them had a petal torn. About half a bale of cotton was picked in the presence of the visitors to show what kind of work this great labor-saying machine could do. The cotton, while it had some green leaves in it, was far cleaner than most of the hand-picked cotton. There were no bolls, no pieces of from all kinds of trash except green leaves, which can always be for greater or less quantities in the cleaness machine and it picked one pounds of cotton in eight minut s at the rate of about a bale an hour. This certainly looks promising.

Turn the Rascals Out! The methods adopted by the Harrison administration to secure another lease of power are exciting general indigna-

When the members of the cabinet are seen stumping the country for their chief the spectacle is not a pleasant one for the plain people who believe that publie office is a public trust.

Other improprieties are charged, and some of them smack of corruption. It is said that in Richmond cart loads of religious weeklies are dumped out at the postoffice and are not distributed at all. This is because the clerks are busy handling republican campaign circulars which are dishonestly sent through the mails at lower rates than they are entitled to. In Raleigh the democratic state chalrman is boycotted by republican postoffice officials, and his sealed letters are not delivered.

This is enough, without the work of Elkins and Magee, and the scheme to purchase votes in New York and Indiana should turn all good citizens against a set of public agents who so shamelessly misuse their official positions.

The popular feeling is voiced in the cry: Turn the rascals out!" Patient endur ance has its limit, and Harrison and his partners have well-nigh worn it out, They have shown us how lightly they hold their responsibilities, and how ready they are to prostitute the public service in the interests of a sectional partisanry which they hope to perpetuate under a force bill. The country cannot wish another such administration. We must smash it at the polls in pure self-de

Farming Here and There

According to the latest estimates, the Kansas farmers will make this year on their crops a net profit of $37,000,000. against a net profit of $27,000,000 last vear.

Out of this they will have to pay their annual interest charge of $12,500,000 on their farm mortgage indebtedness, and there is no telling how much on their other indebtedness

Apparently the farmers of Kansas ar in a good fix this year, but they are keeping up their calamity shout, and it is more than likely that their grievances justify complaint.

In the northeastern states the farmers are complaining bitterly. The number of abandoned farms in New England is on the increase, and the farmers who remain find it impossible to sell their places for more than half or a third of the value of their estates a few years ago.

In the south, despite the low price of cotton, the farmers are better off than their brethren of the east and the west, Their economy and their diversified crops, with cheap labor, have enabled them to pull through the recent era of depression, and they are hopeful of the future.

The McKinley tariff system bears heav ily upon the farmers, and we must get rid of it before we can expect to see any great change for the better among our agriculturalists. We must have tariff reform and a change in our financial system. The conditions of the past two years cannot be continued without impoverishing the tillers of the soil in every state in the union.

Brother Blaine declared Mr. Egan would talk for the Irish republicans, but Mr. Egan immediately rose and remarked that the rules of the diplomatic service would prevent him from speaking his mind. As a republican orator, Mrs. Lease capable of some very fine wark. She ought to be able to drive all the republican farm ers in the democratic fold. The organs are looking forward to a re-

A physician says that a man may do a great deal for himself by sheer force of will, and that in no disorder is it easier to prove this that in no disorder is it easier to prove this than in delirium tremens. He says that one of his patients is a hard drinker, and that while he never takes enough liquor to prevent his attending to his business he is always saturated with alcohol. At certain intervals, however, the man receives a warning and then he "tapers off" until he has reached the minimum in his daily allowance. This warning comes in the form of blue snakes that wind up his legs and creep into his lap and crawi over the table and coil in his plate. He knows that they are not real, so he sets his teeth and goes on with his work or his eating or his goes on with his work or his eating or h reading and resolves to be moderate. Speaking of Emma Abbott's tender-heartedness and generosity, George N. Loomis, advance agent for Sousa's band, says: "One year from the day her husband died she was in New Orleans, and she commemorated his death by sending a check to the lady managers of an orphan asylum for $500. It was sent unsought and received unexpectedly. One of the privalent of the first was that nothing should be said about it. At the time of the Louisville cyclone she sent a draft to the Mayor of Louisville for $1,000. Hers was the first outside relief that was sent to the sufferers on that occasion. The summer before her death she paid the tuition of a deserving young lady, and afterward gave her a good position. She was, in a sense, a baby woman, and the least harsh word brought of Mr. Watson's reported incendary special at Stellaville, the Augusta Chronicle has the following editorial:

"Mr. Watson must be beside himself. What intelligent man, in his right man, would advise the sharpening of knives, and procuring of weapons and arming of negroes for an election? We are free to confess that this language was brought to us simply as heresay we would not believe it. We cannot conceive how any sane man would give such despicable and dangerous advice to his followers. Such a reckiess policy as Mr. Watson advocates would defeat any party in the world, and Mr. Watson mrst have temporarily lost his reason to employ such incendiary speech. Does he want to make the next election day one of carnage and strife? Mr. Watson has lived among this people long enough to know that they are not to be intimidated by such threats or advice as he gives, and his words are absolutely criminal in their dangerous import. We hope that there may yet be shown to be some misunderstanding on the part of our correspondent, and that Mr. Watson has not absolutely forfeited all claim to good citizenship, and entered upon a campaign of utter recklessness, regardless of consequences to himself and fellew-citizens."

THE POLITICIANS.

A Visit to Headquarters of the Three Political Parties.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN THE CAMPAIGN

The Grand Battle of November Is Drawin Nigh at Hand-All Kinds of Politic Gossip Caught at Headquarters.

Another election will soon find the people of Georgia at the polls again.

If present indications count for aught it will be the most desperately fought battle of ballots ever before witnessed in the Empire state of the south.

A Constitution representative called at the headquarters of the three political parties yesterday and found interest at fever heat. All the political workers are preparing for the "wind up" as they call it, and one could hear things fairly whizzing at the committee rooms.

Chairman Atkinson at democratic headquarters is fully alive to the situation and is arranging every little detail that must be arranged in order to wipe up the earth with their third party and republicanism. It is a vey important item in the campaign that the electoral ticket should be made out according to the technical requirements of the law, and to this matter Chairman Atkinson has set his attention.

He has conferred with several of the democratic congressmen with reference to having the correct legal form of the ticket made out.

He has submitted to them the form of the ticket which he conceives to be the correct one and is waiting their endorsement before sending it out to the county chairman and local democratic workers throughout the state. Mr. Atkinson says:

nond so he has.

Brother Ham is expected home from New York in a few days. While there he was waited on by a committee from Tamuely and siked to be present at their grand democratic jubilee the night before the November election and to come prepared to give one of his best old time Georgia cracker speeches for a "whoop up."

The stump speakers who chanced to meet each other in the democratic state committee rooms yesterday read in The Constitution of Ham's reception in New York and he was toasted roundly. The boys rejoice in Ham's fame.

The "Cracker Chancer." as The New York Sun styles him, will also make several speeches in North Carolina before the election where he will receive a great ovation among the tar heels who know how to appreciate his humor and wit.

Brother Ham is being urged by his friends to deliver a lecture in Atlanta after the legislature meets, and has "about half way promised" to do so. He will take for his subject the "Georgia Cracker."

The Tenth District Campaign. There will be a conference today between Chairman Atkinson at democrati-beadquarters and a committee from Argusta with reference to the campaign.

the tenth.

It is understood that the democratic state campaign committe will make a special fight in the tenth-district, and the purpose of the conference today is to pre-special fight in the teathstance, and the purpose of the conference today is to prepare for it.

Mr. Atkinson has decided to open a series of rallies in the district early next week and keep them going until the very morning of election day. He will ask all of the stump speakers, who have volunteered to do such splendid work in the campaign up to date, to go to the tenth and wind up the campaign with their best efforts.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED. Here is a story of a remarkable find, or rather two or them:

About ten years after Professor Lane was married, his wife one afternoon was with her children in some pine woods near Eatonton. While amusing the younger one, a ring with "Em. B. from C. L." engraved in it slipped from Mrs. Lane's inger end all efforts to find it proved unavalling. Five years after, an intimate friend of Mrs. Lane's wrote her that a negro had shown her a ring which she had found, having "Em. B. from C. L." engraved in it. The ring, of course, proved to be the one that had been lost and was restored to its owner.

Professor Lane intimately was watching some negro boys scratching with sticks in the rubbish and broken bricks of a building just torn down, when he saw one of them pick up a bright ring. Curiosity prompted him to look at the ring and it took him but a moment to trace it as probably belonging to Mr. Lane. He wrote Mr. Lane, learned of the previous loss, rewarded the boy and yesterday Mr. Lane received his ring in as good condition as when first given him.

Hon. John A. Sibley, the doughty young people's party nominee for congress in the seventh district, was in Atlanta yesterday, having come from Buchanan, where he met seventh district, was in Atlanta yesterday, having come from Buchanan, where he met Judge Maddox in joint debate on Monday. He is on his way to Marietta, where a joint debate is to take place-tonight. When asked about the political situation in the seventh Mr. Sibley replied:

"Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high. There is no reason why I should not receive a much larger vote in my district than Peek got. It is true I my district than Peek got. It is true I have a majority of six thousand to overcome, but you see it takes a change of just a little over three thousand votes to do that. Stranger things have happened than that such a change should be wrought. Judge Maddox and myself are conducting a high-toned, first-class, all wool and a yard wide campaign. He is a clever gentleman and nothing personal has been said in the cam-paign at which either of us could take umbrage. We stop at the same hotels, eat at the same table and very often sleep in the same room. If by mischance I should not be elected I will have the satisfaction of knowing that the seventh district will have a gentleman to represent it. As long as I am on deck no democratic candidate in my district can fling up his head, walk around the track and claim the gate money. I will follow him with both feet in the air, and if he beats me he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he did it after hard fight.

The first of Rev. Dr. W. J. Scott's se ries of lectures entitled "The Seventh Decade of American History" will probably be delivered at the First Methodist church, Friday night next week. This initial lecture treats of the last appearance of John C. Calhoun in the Senate and ends with a review of the Kansas-Nebraska bill and its adoption. These lectures have been carefully prepared by Dr. Scott at the solicitation of a number of cultured citisens, and many tickets have been sold in advance.

The period covered by this series is one of great importance, and our young men and others who feel an interest in the stirring eras of our history should hear these able and entertaining discourses. Dr. Scott's fame as a lecturer and writer on literary and historical subjects will draw crowded with the bridge that is built across Hunter street, connecting the property of the Atlanta university.

The petition set out that twenty years ago an agreement was entered into between the city and the university by which the latter was to extend the route of Hunter street a certain distance through the property and grade it a vertain level below the surrounding height.

The university reserved in the agreement the right to construct a bridge not less than twelve feet high above the road and thereby connect the divided portions of the property.

Accordingly the extension was made and the width of the street as agreed upon, including the sidewalks, was thirty feet. The bridge was also constructed and was raised above the street for a distance of fifteen or twenty feet.

For years the bridge has been in use and the property owners have considered it a permanent fixture.

Recently the street was widened on the north side for a distance of ten feet and later on the city condemned another ten feet on the opposite side.

Last March the mayor and general council adopted the report of a joint committee on streets and bridges, recommending that proceedings be instituted for the purpose of exhausting the rights of the university with a servence to the narticular bridge. of exhausting the rights of the university with reference to the particular bridge.

A resolution was passed appointing Mr. G. W. Parrott and Mr. A. J. West as appraisers to assess the value of the rights belonging to the university in the ownership of the bridge. Mr. W. M. Middle-brooks was afterwards substituted in the belonging to the university in the ownership of the bridge. Mr. W. W. Middlebrooks was afterwards substituted in the place of Mr. West.

The bridge, it is claimed by the university, was erected in strict accordance with the contract and the city of Atlanta has no authority or right to condemn it.

The property of the university is situated to both sides of the road and the value of the buildings amounts in the aggregate to $110,000.

It is indispensible to the property in view of the fact that the bed of the road is so deep that the bridge should connect the buildings and enable the students and patrons of the institution to pass over from one part of the grounds to the other.

The petition prayed for the court's injunction to issue against the city, restraining the latter from interfering in any way with the bridge rights until after the matter has been finally adjudicated by Judge Marshall Clarke.

The places that knew Mr. W. W. Prout, the real estate agent, during the past twelve months have not known him since Monday afternoon, when he left Atlanta for Macon, so he said. He said he would be back at 11 o'clock Tuesday, but he never came back. back. Mr. Prout is a young man about twenty eight years of age, and has been in the real estate business for a little over a year. He had a trim little office on Broad street, and seemed to be prospering.

Six months ago Prout was married to a charming brunette of just seventeen sum-mers, at his former home in Barnesville, Ga., and every one thought he was a lucky fellow. He brought his bride to Atlanta to live, taking up his residence at the Ard-more, kept by Mr. J. N. Fain, on South Forsyth street. If outward indications were worth any but the matter was settled before reaching a trial.

Smoothly enough Mr. Prout moved along until last Monday. Monday afternoon he left the Ardmore stating that he was going to Macon, and would be back Tuesday. The next day Mrs. Prout left for Barnesville. Now, Mr. Erout has not returned, and a story was affoat yesterday to the effect that he was gone for good and was short a few hundred dollars.

The story could be traced to no authentic source. All that could be learned was that Mr. Prout was out of town, and that he owed several debts here, and that his creditors were auxious to see him.

Inquiry at the Ardmore elicited the fact that Mr. Prout owed a balance of $50 there, and the proprietor was anxious to see mm.

Mr. Murra, the clerk, said it seemed that Prout was gone for good. "But," he added, "he left a trunk here. He may come back yet. When he left he said he would be back Tuesday morning, sure."

An unpaid board bill is not the full sum of Prout's liabilities. It seems that he owe other bills aggregating possibly $500.

Mr. Prout's friends believe that he will be back and make things straight, yet.

I think, too, that the just complaint made is the teachers of our public schools, because of the delay in the payment of their shries, growling out of our method of colleging the school fund, should receive early at careful consideration and the great injuice done them be corrected.

These poorly paid and hard-worked public strates should not be required to wait eight ten months for their sainties (most of the months for their sainties (most of the months) for their services.

Revenue Laws.

The Comptroller General criticizes the tax small result and nave saying:

The act approved August 14, 1891, to protise for a board of equalization of real and resonal property in the counties of this state, we designed to reach mainly personal property which had escaped taxation, such as money, rechandles, notes, accounts, stocks and bonds and not with a view of increasing the assess.

which had escaped taxation, such as money, serchandise, notes, accounts, stocks and bonds as not with a view of increasing the assessments of real estate, but of equalizing it so a to make the burdens of taxation as nearly said as possible on all citizens owing that cass of property.

Ifear, nowever, that the expectations of the substant and the supporters of the measure in the general assembly have not been realized. The increase this year in the value of such property under this law, has not been as large a former years, while the assessment of land shown a larger per centage of increase—there-placeusing the taxes on the very property which the act intended to lessen.

The enforcement of this act has developed weral defects in it which should be remedied, it is deemed wise to continue it in force.

I would also respectfully suggest that the said subjecting railroad property to county as unincipal taxation, be amended so as to require tax officers of the counties and cities and subjecting railroad property to county as unincipal traxation, be amended so as to require tax officers of the counties and cities and subjecting railroads in the complexitier general of the value of the same and municipalities in the same manasta taxes due by individuals are collected.

This would greatly facilitate the collection of the revenue and relieve the axis of much circumication in their inforcement.

I again renew the suggestion that tax-collectas be given power and authority to levy and their accounts may be required by office, thus lessening the chances for see of the state taxes. It is often the case in their settlements are delayed for months some of the failure of sheriffs or constants to levy tax fi fas placed in their hands by ut collectors."

UDGE NEWMAN REMANDS THE CASE.

Captain Garrett Will Centinue As Receiver and the Road Will Not Be Sold For the Present.

The Atlanta and Florida railroad will not be administered by the Federal courts. Judge Newman announced yesterday that he would remand the case to the Superoir court and Judge Marshall Clark will retain control of the property.

This is a victory for Messrs. Payne and Tye the attorneys who have made a hard and brilliant fight for the company all the way through. The Central Trust Company of New York wanted to get control of the litigation and sought to have the case removed to Judge Newman's court. His Honor has refused stating that the state court is fully competent to administer the property and profect all interests.

Captain T. W. Garrett continues as receiver. He says that the road is getting a good share of the cotton traffic and is getting on well. The line is being run in the interest of Atlanta and the security holders. The sale seems to be something remote. Captain Garrett is catching up with the unpaid operating expenses and by the end of the year will be able to make a good showing.

The South Carolina's Company's case will be reviewed again on the petition of the first mortgage bondholders. November 17th was set for the sale but that will not come off now before next April.

Now the question is, are the people of Atlanta going to allow the city to be run by forty mien? Escing the same clique that wanted to have a scrub race, and thus be enabled to buy offices for their friends, and who now, that a white primary has been ordered, are trying to forestall public opinion and elect their pets and particular friends to office. lants will bury that licker so deep on the latth of November that it will never more be heard of.

Are the people of Atlanta going to allow themselves to be bought and sold by a back room secret caucus of forty men? It has been charged against one of the candidates for mayor that he was in the race against capital, but that was given on rumor. Now we have a certainty that forty-two men, composed of bankers and capitalists almost exclusively, have drawn the line against labor, and are trying by secrecy and unfair methods to deprive the great masses of the people of their choice in the way of aldermen and council members.

There is one remedy left, and that is the ballot box on November 14th next, and the voters of Atlanta should then rebuke the "artful dodgers" who are trying to deprive them of their rights.

Now, fellow citizens, let us rebuke this high handed attempt to enslave us. We must repudiate this back room ticket, backed as it is by boodie of the bankers, and assert our manhood by overthrowing the ringsters.

To the Voters of Atlants:

I respectfully submit that I am the choice of the first wird for councilman. I do not think that Mr. Hirsch should go in a committee to select candidates for office, and among the number select himself to fill one of the places. I am willing and anxious that the first wird hold a mass meeting or any other form of meeting when a fair and full expression of piblic sentimen can be had, and I invite Mr. Hirsch to come out with his friends and have a friendly contest in the ward, the man who has the majority to back him to be made the nominee of the ward, and if this is done I will gladly support him If he gets the nomination. Is not this fair, and right and honest? Let all the people of the first ward be notified and invited to come and participate in the nomination. This government is based on the principle that the majority shall rule, and it is contrary to public policy to allow any faction or part of the people to meet privately and formulate a ticket unless it be by command of the masses of the people in convention assembled. I make no point on the persent the clty. I simply ask that I be given an equal show before my people, especially so since Mr. Hirsch was one of the fire committeemen to select himself to fill this position.

I further believe the choice of the respective wards should be attained this way, and that each ward.

To the Editor of The Constitution:

I see in this morning's Constitution a report of a committee of citizens last night, in selecting a ticket for aldermen and council, that my name is down as endorsing the action of the committee, I left as soon as the selection of alderman was made. Mr. J. C. Hendrix was selected from the north side unanimously. After I left the selection of Mr. Hendrix was reconsidered and Mr. Harralson was put on the ticket, and I ain reported as endorsing that action, which I do not. And I will say further that the selection of Mr. Hirsch from the First Ward was not the selection of the First ward committee. When the First ward delegates acted separately, Mr. Hirsch only received one vote, and on the last ballot was dropped out, and he was put on the ticket by the other wards. I feel it is due the citizens of the First ward to make this statement.

Will Stand by It.

Will Stand by It.

Editor Constitution—Your report of the proceedings of the citizens' meeting last night in Adair Bros.'s office does me an injustice. You say "it developed that every member from the fourth ward was pledged to the support of Captain Hendrix for alderman." I was pledged to no one, but attended the meeting with the view of co-operating with and sustaining the action of the majority. I left before the final vote for alderman on the north side, but I stand by the nomination. I do not believe in bolting because outvoted.

A Card from Mr. Arnold Broyles.

Editor Constitution: Understanding that I am being criticised adversely for taking part in the meeting of yesterday evening in Adair Bros.' office, I wish to state that I was not at the meeting and did not know that there had been one until I read the account of my endorsement in this morning's paper. Of course I am glad to have the support of these gentlemen in my race for alderman, but I am also very willing to sudmit my claims to any method that may be chosen by the people, i.e., primary or ward meetings. Respectfully.

Lizzie Calloway got the worst of the courtroom scrap, and has been in bed since. She complained of pains in her breast and abdomen, and her condition has been serious. She was in a delicate condition. Last night about 10:30 o'clock she died. The matter was at once reported to Police Captain Moss, and the superintendent of the city stockade was notified to hold Adaline Maddox securely. She will probably be brought from the stockade to the police station this morning and locked up on a charge of murder. Lizzie Calloway was known as a very peaceable woman. Mr. Ed Peters, who was nominated as the candidate from the sixth ward, says:

A BRUTAL OUTRAGE. Seven Negroes Beat a Girl's Escort to Death.

Last night William Morris, a young negro man, and William Morris, a young negro girl living on Harris street, went out for a walk.

They walked far out Highland avenue, going beyond the Richmond and Danville railroad.

About 11 o'clock they returned, and when near DeLoach's mills, seven negro men approached them, according to the story they tell.

They threw rocks so thick and fast that Morris started to run. The negro men caught him and beat him fearfully.

The seven negro men then turned their attention to the girl, and the story she tells of the treatment she received at their hand is most revolting.

She was left lying half dead and after nearly an hour was able to get up and walk to a house occupied by a family of white people near by. She told them her story and the matter was reported to the police station.

At midnight Callman Abbott went out to investigate the story. He found the negro William Morris bloody and terribly beaten up. The torn up condition of the ground caused by the scuffle showed the girl's story to be true. She was unable to give any detailed description of her assailants, but the police think a handkerchief and one or two other articles found where the scuffle occurred may lead to the arrest of the inhuman wretches.

The police are making every effort to discover the perpetrators of the horrible outrage.

ATLANTA MAY BE IN THE SHADOW

And If She Is, the Sky Will Be Darkened This Afternoon About Two O'Clock, and It Will Be Total In Baltimore.

There will be a total eclipse of the sun today and many parts of the United States will be swept by the shadow that will pass over the earth's surface. It is not very often that the people of Atlanta are treated to a genuine eclipse

But if the almanac is to be relied upon hey will certainly enjoy that privilege It is not likely, however, that the entire disk of the sun will be obscured to those who live in this locality.

The astronomers, however, predict that the citizens of Baltimore will be thrown completely in the shade and that for several minutes the pall of midnight will be thrown over the city and surrounding region.

It has now been several years since a

It is necessary in order to appreciate an eclipse of the sun in its full beauty, for the day to be perfectly clear and for no clouds to interfere with the view.

If the day is cloudy there will simply be a growth of darkness without the brilliant display that comes from the gradual darkness of the visible luminary.

Everybody will, of course, be on the look out for the eclipse, and if it fails to happen a great many knee breeches will be disappointed.

Barlow Brthers Entertain a Large Audience at DeGive's

From the overture till the curtain fell, the Barlow Brothers's minstrels kept a large audience laughing at DeGive's last night. The galleries were crowded until they would hold no more and the performance was well nigh as full of fun.

This is the company which opened the Edgewood avenue theatre last season. Mr. Dolson, the proprietor has paid special attention and a liberal amount of meney to make a feature of the overture. It is particularly good even among first parts generally termed brilliant.

Schonfield's slight of hand feats are astonishing. He juggles with knives and balls most dexterously and does some tricks in which the eye can scarcely follow his hands, so quickly do they move. Haus Freeman's acrobatic acts included new tricks which won applause and he was called back. The Rowleys delighted the audience with banjo playing. One of them has unique tricks. The Barlow brothers, James and "Billy," sustain the reputation of the name made famous by the long to be remembered "Milt." They made wild mirth and received oncores. Master Eddle Percy's pathetic song and Will Mack's impersonatics were distinct hits. A musical specialty by Messrs. Buckley and Snyder was one of the cheff features.

The dialogue is funny all the way through. The performance is clean and very creditable. It creates roars of laughter and leaves a good impression. impression.

The company will give a matinee and appear again tonight.

HE KNOWS A GOOD THING-Mr. Will Keagh Has Some Pleasant Thing to Say About Atlants.

A young man who came to Atlanta yesterday for the first time in four years said last night that he had one regret. That was that he had not brought all his spare wealth here to invest instead of distributing it in other cities.

"Atlanta is more like St. Paul, Minneapolis or some of those great Western cities than any town outside of the west I know of. I have been in every city from the Rio Grande to British Columbia during the last four years and Atlanta strikes my fancy. You can hardly imagine how Atlanta impresses a man who has been away from it a few years. Ogden is a great town for catching investments from people in my business but Atlanta's real estate oright to sell it itself."

Mr. Keogh formerly manager of Charleston's academy of music is now one of the owners of "The Hustler" company. His company is a great money maker, being one of the most successful on the road.

Mr. Robert Brower, the manager of the Frederick Warde—Louis James Company—In passing through, en route to St. Louis, says that the company will appear in Atlanta one night, giving a magnificent presentation of "Julius Caesar." Both Mr. Warde and Mr. James are established favorites in Atlanta and either one of these gentlemen have formerly been able to pack the house. With both of these great stars in one play, supported by a company of thirty-one carefully selected artists, and with a magnificent production of "Julius Caesar" most elaborately given. The capacity of the opera house will be severely taxed. This grand organization has already earned the proud distinction of being the foremost legitimate company in America, and their every appearance has been the cause of editorial praise from the principal newspapers throughout America.

If you want to go to the theater to be wrought up and to have your nerves set on end by harrowing and tear-producing situations you are cautioned to avoid "A Breesy Time." It is announced by the management of this piece that it contains absolutely no moral lesson, social satire or story of contemporaneous human interest. It was not put together for the purpose of elevating the American drama and it was not calculated to make dramatic critics get out their best set of ethics and rules of construction. The purpose of the piece is to amuse by means of a series of elever specialty performances, devoid of "suggestion" and executed by performer with the best ability. The carnival of fun will begin Friday evening for two nights and matinee at the opera house.

Augusta, Ga., October 19.—(Special.)—Mr. William H. Barrett, Jr., and Miss Ella Carson Barnes, eldest daughter of Ex-Congressman George T. Barnes, were married at 8 o'clock tonight, at the home of the bride's father on Greene street. The wedding was one of the largest and most handsome home weddings that Augusta society has witnessed in Sam Taliaferro's home, was the meeting place, it having been designated at the last meeting at Rocky Springs. There was a fair quota of alliancemen from the various sub-lodges of the county present as delegates, and Mr. J. M. Liddell presided, while Secretary J. E. Nabell kept a record of the proceedings.

At 10 o'clock President Liddell called the meeting to order and the delegates settled down to the work that had brought them together.

The contrast the meeting presented to the last quarterly meeting of the Fulton county alliance was too striking to escape notice. At the last meeting two political factions were at war inside the organization—fighting for the honors of the offices.

Since that time the third party-has been so completely buried that its adherents in Fulton county didd't have the present of the last and two gentlemen as follows:

The contrast the meeting presented to the last quarterly meeting of the Fulton county alliance was too striking to escape notice. At the last meeting two political factions were at war inside the organization—fighting for the honors of the offices. Since that time the third party has been so completely buried that its adherents in Fulton county didn't have the nerve to make a fight yesterday.

A resolution intended to cast a slur upon Commissioner of Agriculture Nesbitt was introduced, discussed and defeated. It declared in favor of a department that would do more practical good to the farmers.

The ceremony took place in the back partor under a handsome floral umbrella of mare-chalniel roses. The bridal party came thought for the back parior. First came Messrs. Henry North and Maurice Walton, the ushers. Then Miss Mattle Gardner and Miss Rosa North, followed alternately by two bridesmaids and two gentiemen as follows:

Mr. L. G. Dougherty and Mr. William Martin; Miss Liszle Alexander and Miss Hattle Butter; Mr. Andrew Rosinal and Mr. James Stokes; Miss Annie Rouland and Miss Adelated Moore; Mr. Charles Heard and Mr. Wardre Allen; Mr. Irwin Alexander and Mr. laide Moore; Mr. Charles Heard and Mr. War-ren Walker; Miss Ella Alexander and Miss Marle Allen; Mr. Irwin Alexander and Mr. Joe Gauahl; and then Miss McAlpen of Savan-nah and Mr. John A. Barnes. Following those came Miss Adelaide Barnes, the maid of honor, attired in a gown of yellow crepe of honor, attired in a gown of yellow crepe dechene. After her came the groom and his bestman, Mr. John D. Carswell, of Savannah. The bride entered with her father. She wore a gown of white satin entraine, trimmed with ribbons and orange blossoms. The bridesmaids were attired in white crepe dechene with yellow slippers and gloves and carried marechalniel roses. Rev. Dr. Chauncey Williams pronounced the impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church.

After the ceremony came the reception. Only a few intimate friends were invited to the ceremony but about three hundred invitations went out to the reception. The bridal party supped in a separate room from the rest of the guests. The bridal table was circular and was one complete mass of yellow roses. The happy couple left on the midnight Georgia train for a three weeks' trip to New York city and the north. Mr. Barrett is a young and popular lawyer who has made a brilliant record for himself, and he has won one of Augusta's fairest daughters for his bride.

Married In Charlotte.

Charlotte, N. C., October 19.—(Special.)—Mr. Luke Seawell, formerly of Atlanta, and Miss Beesie Weddington, of this city, were married in the Second Presbyterian church in this city this evening at 8:30 o'clock. The marriage ceremonies were performed by Rev. R. C. Reed, former pastor of the Second church. The attendance was very large, the spactous building being crowded with the elite of Charlotte society.

The bride is the daughter of one of Charlotte's most prominent citizens, J. H. Weddington, of the wholesale hardware firm of Brown, Weddington & Co., and is a favorite in Charlotte society. Mr. Seawell is from the Gate City and enjoys a splendid reputation in this city, where he was at one time in business. Mr. and Mrs. Seawell leave in the morning for New York and other northern cities.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

NEW YORK, October 19.—A break of nearly 2 points in the New York and New Eugland on Tumors that a sing had been struck in the alleged deal with the Boston and Maine had an adverse influence on the stock market this morning. The bears not only hammered New England, but used every effort to mark down prices for other stocks. Selling for short account was quite heavy, but outside of the New York Central and Norther Pacific, preferred, the general list yielded only 1-4 to 7-8 per cent. During the afternoon the absence of offerings of long stock caused the short to feel apprehensive, and as the day drew to a close a desire to cover became quite general. As a result prices advanced 1-2 to 7-8 from the lowest and the final quotations, as a rule, were the highest attained. Grangers and Manhattan led an upward turn. American sugar sold up from 108 7-8 to 110 33-4; Burlington and Quincy from 102 3-8 to 103 3-4; Chicago Gas from 90 to 91; Distillers and Cattle Feeders from 68 3-4 to 64 1-2; Rock Island from 81 3-4 to 81 1-2 and Louisville and Nashville from 81 3-4 to 64 1-2; Rock Island from Si 3-4 to 10 3-4; Encland from Si 3-4 to 64 1-2; Rock Island from Si 3-4 to 64 1-2; Rock Island from Si 3-4 to 69 1-4. Even Reading, which has been the object of special attack on account of legal proceedings against the Coal combination brought by the attorney general of New Jersey, scored a fractional net gain. National Cordage, Chicago Junction and Union Stock Yards and Manhattan were very strong 7th closing dealings. National Idused Oil jumped from 21-2 to 39 and receded to 87 1-2. Among the influences operating in favor of higher prices today were easier rates for money near the close, decline in sterling exchange, placing of amounts of rail-way bonds in Europe by Drexel, Morgan & Co., and other leading banking houses on this side and heavy tonnage of railroads, which is attested by favorable traffic returns of lines west and south. Transactions reached 285,000 listed, and 31,000 unlisted. The market closed strong in tone. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Exchange weaker at 454% 3486%; commercial bills

NEW YORK, October 19.—The market today has disappointed us in so far as we have been anticipating a reaction and the re action has not materialized. We cannot but marvel at the stubborn streagth developed in spite of tight money persistent hammering by bearish traders and the pressure of stocks in the loan crowd, which indicates that the small fry are heavily laden. We do not small fry are heavily laden. We do not sish to deprecate the strength of the bull party and its power to advance the market curther without reaction, if such should be the programme, but we still confess that we think prices should sell off before buyers can teel sanguine of an immediate advance. One of the features was again New England, which was wheat declining 2 per cent/ and it shows how well the bulls have the general dat in band when this sharp decline failed to affect values. Distillers held its own well and the bears on this stock can get little comfort out of its actions on the stock exchange. The main interest centered in the loan crowd; eager borrowers took all offerings at from 698 per cent and as many couses were borrowing more than their reculrements in order to be quite safe over the coming loildays we should not be surprised to see higher rates tomorrow, and why we see no reason to antichate any great stringency, miess the market should advance very much face a stiff money market for the next sixty days. THE COTTON MARKETS.

The following are the closing quotat Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, October 19—An active demand from spinners today confirms the private advices of the good business being contracted for in Manchester for the east. The high quality of this season's crop brought about a revision of the differences upon the grades of middling and below, which have been advanced 1-16c. In the arrival market the opening prices, which were 163-64d above yesterday's closing prices, which were 163-64d above yesterday's closing prices, which were of the market continues very firm and anticipate a further advance. This is the natural result of the continued light receipts at the southern ports and the small stock held by Manchester spinners. The light movement and the demand from spinners is making constant inroads in the surplus visible supply, and the feeling of confidence in the future of cotton appears to be spreading into circles not connected with the cotton trade, especially in financial circles. The demand from speculative sources is more than sufficient to absorb the offerings of cotton from the south, which are naturally checked by the firm foreign markets, and at the moment the situation appears stronger than on the last advance. Throughout the trade at home and abroad the temper continues to be very bullish. The shorts have been driven to cover by the light receipts, appearing to have united with the bulls in expecting higher prices. At the opening the pressure of large buying orders was not felt until after the January delivery was passed on the call, but when the spring positions were reached large buying orders for foreign buying orders was not felt until after the January de-livery was passed on the call, but when the spring po-sitions were reached large buying orders for foreign and Wall street account advanced the market some & points from the closing quotations of yesterday. The feature of today's market has been the appearance of buying orders from continental agents. These orders are thought to indicate that spinners upon the conti-nent are becoming uneasy at the continuance of the light receipts, and will not wait any longer before se-curing at least a portion of their needed supplies. So comparatively light. In fact, the movement will be crop as at present does not indicate a crop greatly exceeding 7,350,000 bales. The market closed steady at about the best prices with a firmer tone immediately after the close of business.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager. NEW YORK, October 18—Liverpool this morning was hardly as good as had been expected, several cables giving the reason for the halt in that market as the possibility of some disturbances to labor in Manchester, one of our friends stating that they did not believe any one of our friends stating that they did not believe any real trouble would transpire. On the call, however, a large inquiry developed, and beore long an advance of some 40% points over first quotations had been made and under urgent buying prices with slight fluctuations advanced almost 10@11 points. It is a difficult matter to ascribe the actual cause for this buying unless it be that the state report for Georgia showing a material falling off in the expections as compared with last year should have been the stimulus. At any rate, the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the tone of the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the tone of the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the business was large and the tone firm throughout and the business was large and the tone firm throughout a safety and the business was large and the tone firm throughout, the condition of the business was large and the tone firm throughout a safety and the business was large and the tone firm throughout a safety and the business was large and the tone firm throughout a safety and the business was large and the tone firm through the business was large and the tone firm through the business was large and the tone firm through the business was large and the business was at top prices. The weather south shows no unfavora-ble characteristics, and with rains in a few sections might be safely said to be favorable. The whole point at issue is the reliability of the reports about the pres-ent shortage, and if what is coming to hand every day is anyways to be relied upon the decrease is this erop is certainly a material one. It is natural that with the continued good weather some hesitancy should be manifested in this regard, more particularly if we look back and remember the developments of the past two scapons. We dwell upon this matter at length because it is a serious and important one.

THE CRICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement is Grain and Provisions. Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, October 18—A drop in the price of wheat to the lowest point yet reached on the crop, and lower than known for many years, was partly the result today of the world's fair dedication. Traders who were long seemed afraid to carry their holdings over the holddays and began to liquidate, but there was little or no demand, and it was necessary to make concessions to find purchasers. The break amounted to 1½c, from which there was ½c recovery.

Provisions show a sain of 507 ½c.

which there was 16 recovery.

Provisions show a gain of 5674c.

Oats were quite active, though weak in sympathy with wheat and corn and assisted by liberal realising by longs. There was also good short selling. May declined %c, but rallied 1665c and closed steady.

WHEAT—Opening. Highest, Closing, October. 734.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

CHICAGO, October 19.—Fine weather, lower London cables the continued large receipts at primary points, and Bradstreets increase of seven millions of bushels in the available supply caused a large liquidation by holders of long wheat. The market declined 1 1-2c per bushel very rapidly, about 1-2c of which was recovered before the close. This increased pilling up of stocks of wheat in private and public warehouses is becoming very oppressive to the grain market. The primary points again received over 1 1-2 million of bushels with clearances less than two million bushels.

Receipts of oats were light, but the stocks already on hand, and the receipts of corn causing a decline in that cereal, makes the oat market weak along with the rest. It seems as though it were impossible to get higher.

There was rather a firm advancing market in hog product, with very little activity. This was probably an evening up day in grain and provisions, owing to the approaching holiday.

Never in the history of Atlanta has a cel ebration which involved such a magnitudi nous procession been undertaken. Elabor ate as the printed programme may appear and as lengthy and unwieldy as the divisidns may seem, the whole thing will move without a hitch. The committee in charge has arranged the procession so that every detail has been attended to.

One of the features of the parade will be the counter-marching on Marietta street—s

The procession will move from Peachtree street into Pryor and past the Equitable building to Decatur street, where a right flank movement will be executed. The line will then move up Marietta street, on the right side, and past the Grady monument, Where o neat tribute is paid that honored departed. As the military companies or departed. As the military companies, except the regulars, pass the monument, the officers and men will salute and the flag will be dipped. The regulars are not allowed to dip their flag except in memory of some great general. After passing the Grady monument the parade will proceed to Cone street, where it wheels, and crossing Mari-etta, go down the left side to Broad

The parade has been well arranged and The parade has been well arranged and with an eye to symmetry. The Fourth artillery band will head the procession, being preceded by a platoon of mounted officers and the chief marshal and his staff. Following will come the Fourth United States Artillery, six companies strong, under Major J. B. Rawles. The Atlanta Military band will come between the Fourth Artilley and the Fourth batallion. Ine Fourth batallion will be ranged as follows: The Gate City Guard, seven fours strong, under Lieutenwill be ranged as follows: The Gate City Guard, seven fours strong, under Lieutenant White; the Atlanta Zouaves, Captain Amos Baker commanding; the Grady Cadets, under Captain Pryor L. On the reviewing stand will be those who have raken no part in the parade. Among them will be Governor and Mrs. Northen, and all the statchouse officers and their wives; Mayor Hemphill and his wife and the municipal officers. The Daughters of the Revolution, in charge of Mrs. Harry Jackson, will occupy a portion of the stand. The reviewing stand will be at the capitol and there the exercises will take place. One of the prettiest and most interesting features of the exercises will be the singing of national airs by the school girls, under Professor B. C. Davis.

Cheap Rates On Railroads.

Cheap Rates On Railroads.

Everybody for miles around can come to Atlanta Columbus day, October 21st, for the celebration.

The railroads offer wonderfully reduced rates and place the trip in reach of the poorest of the poor.

Captain E. P. Howell, who has been working to secure these reduced rates is in receipt of the following self-explanatory letter from the Southern Passenger Association

ciation
Atlanta, Ga., October 18th, 1892.—Colonel
B. P. Howell and others, Committee, Atlanta, Ga., Gentlemen:—Referring to application excursion rates to Atlanta and return, for this occasion.

We beg to advise that rates of one and one third lowest first-class fares for the round trip have been authorized from Macon, West Point, Union Point, Dalton, Gainesville, Athens and intermediate points; tickets to be sold for trains scheduled to arrive in Atlanta during the forenoon of October 21st, and limited to October 22nd, 1892.

While these rates are not as low as the rates yrequested, they are the same as have been authorized for a similar celebration at other points and we trust will be satisfactory.

Yours very truly, M. SLAUGHTER, Assistant Commissioner. To This will bring thousands of people to Patlanta to see the great Columbian celebration. The affair is already the talk of sthis entire section of Georgia and with yeuch reductions in the railroad fare men, women and children will flock to the Gate City of the South for a grand day of rest and sight-seeing.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN TO CHIEF CONNOLLY

And an Investigation Is Being Made by Captain Thompson, Which May Lead to the Police Court.

If certain developments which manifeste themselves at the police station yesterday result in anything definite, Mrs. Wolfe, the lady who is seeking to establish a haven for fallen girls, will soon be called upon to efend a fight in which Rev. V. C. Norcros night very worthily engage himself. Police Captain Thompson has his official nose to an investigation, whose object is to reveal whether Mrs. Wolfe has really admitted to her home persons prohibited from entering by act of council. If the investigation shows that she has done so-well, Mrs. Wolfe's name will necessarily be written upon the police docket. In that case the fight in question will be made in police court.

The investigation Captain Thompson naking was begun under direction of Chie of Police Connolly at the instigation of ritizens residing near the old Home for the Friendless, corner Peters and Fair streets, which Mrs. Wolfe occupies.

The history of Mrs. Wolfe's very commendable efforts to establish a home here is a precarious one, and one familiar to the public through the opposition that has been made to it.

Is a precarious one, and one familiar to the public through the opposition that has been made to it.

On the first of the current month Mrs. Wolfe went to reside in the Home for the Friendless, which had just been vacated by the latter institution for its new building. Mrs. Wolfe had to leave the big red brick house, 59 West Mitchell street because the neighbors objected.

The legislation of the city fathers upon the petition of residents near the Home for the Friendless now forms a prominent part of the history of Mrs. Wolfe's efforts, referred to above. The council fixed a penalty for the establishing of a home of the character that it was understood Mrs. Wolfe intended to open in the Home for the Friendless. Mrs. Wolfe had to get out of 59 West Mitchell, according to agreement with Chief Connolly, and she went to the home corner of Peters and Fair streets, announcing that she would not start her home until a more favorable public sentiment had been created.

home until a more favorable public sentiment had been created.

During the eighteen days of this month, already past Mrs. Wolfe and her assistants have lived quietly in the home. All the while her neighbors have been uneasy. They saw in her presence there an intention of starting her home there, whether they or the city council would or not. They watched her anxiously.

A day or so ago it was said that Mrs. Wolfe had received two young persons in her home, and by so doing her neighbors held she was guilty of a violation of the city law. If there were any persons received at the home it was done quietly, but the anxious neighbors of Mrs. Wolfe determined to set their minds at rest, and at the same time put a check to the home at the same time put a check to the hom at the same time put a check to the home business.

Yesterday several of the neighbors called on Chief of Police Connolly and reported the matter and asked for an investigation. The chief detailed Captain Thompson to make the necessary official inquiry. Nothing has been learned yet that indicates that any law has been violated, but then that investigation is still being prosecuted.

The people near Mrs. Wolfe's are all stirred up and are just as determined as ever that the home for fallen girls shall not be set up in their midst. On the other hand Mrs. Wolfe protests that the purposes of her home are generally misunderstood. She declares that if its objects were properly understood the opposition to it would disappear. Any way other chapters are likely to be added to the early history of Mrs. Wolfe's home.

HE WILL LECTURE TONIGHT. Yan Pho Lee Can Be Heard Again at Payne's

Yan Phon Lee, the Chinese clergyman, who delighted such a large audience in the basement of the First Methodist church last Monday evening, will lecture again tonight at Payne's chapel.

He is a very happy speaker and talks entertainingly of the manners and customs of the Chinese people.

The opportunity of hearing from a genuine "Celestial" reared in the upper circles of the empire, is not a privilege that is eyery day afforded, and every seat in the chapel will no doubt be crowded tonight. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged and the proceeds will be for the benefit of the church.

FUNERAL OF MRS. TOLLESON.

t Occured from Her Late Residence Yester day Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. J. R. Tolleson occurred from her late residence on Loyd street yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

A large attendance of friends and relatives were present, and their sorrowful faces, as well as the tributes of love which they brought, in the shape of beautiful floral offerings, attested their lofty esteem for the gentle spirit that had dropped its anchor in a more delightful haven.

Dr. Walker Lewis conducted the services, which were tenderly solemn and impressive. The interment occurred in Oakland cemetery.

THEY HAVE ARRANGED THE COTS.

Fort McPherson to Atlanta on the day of the grand military parade and splendid demonstration.

Captain Howell received a telegram to the effect from the authorities last night. The Central is always prompt to do that which Atlanta is glad to have done and in this instance will have the praise of every titizen.

A vast line of Uncle Sam's soldiers with their splendid military band will be in the parade on Columbian day and will add much to the gorgeous procession.

Orphanage.

The cots have now been arranged and everything is moving along nicely at the Imman orphanage.

A subscription of $10 was received yesterday morning from R. W. Hamil, general agent of the Atlanta Dairy Company.

It is likely that the number of Immates in the orphanage will be increased during the next few days.

The Foley and Williams Manufacturing Company has presented the home with one of their latest improved sewing machines.

Three days there will be running races and a number of well known horse have written for the particulars. The races will all be running races and will oc-cur on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday— eight races in all. The entire charge of the races have been given the racing commit-tee—Messrs. F. M. Stewart, Sam H. Venable and T. J. Pollard—which was appointed yesterday. This committee will decide upon the judges, the entries, the purses and in fact every detail.

To Advertise the Carnival. The Carnival posters have been received and they are flamers, six feet in length and three feet wide they will catch the eye of even the most casual observer. These posters will be sent throughout the state and posted in the most conspicuous places different towns.

The St. Louis Floats. Mr. Porester of the North Carolina and St. Louis road was before the director's at yesterday's meeting and spoke of the freight rate inducements his road might be able offer if any of the floats used in the procession of the veiled prophet in St. Louis were purchased by Atlanta merchants. He was referred to the Trades Display Committee. Mr. Forrester telegraphed to St. Louis yesterday morning for photographs of the floats and they will be here for inspection by tomorrow.

A Carnival Souvenir will be on sale during carnival week. The souvenir will be in pamphlet form and will contain photogravures and descriptions of the carnival floats and a story of the carnival festival from its incipiency to the culmination.

Editor Constitution: I have had the pleasure of an interview with Professor Gentry, who is now the youngest and most successful trainer of domestic animals and proprietor of the pony and dog show now being exhibited in Atlanta, from whom I gained considerable information which I think will interest The Constitution readers. Professor Gentry's native place is Bloomington, Ind. He is now only about twenty-eight years old and has spent most of his life in the training of ponies and dogs and has made a success of it. Professor Gentry firmly believes that animals can be taught a higher degree of intelligence than mere instinct.

has made a success of it. Froressor Gentry try firmly believes that animals can be taught a higher degree of intelligence than mere instinct.

It may be interesting to the thousands of people who have visited Professor Gentry's pony and dog show during the past week to know something more about these fascinating members of the animal kingdom than can be learned of them while on dress parade during the next exhibition.

The writer has been an eye-witness to the astonishing performances of Professor Gentry's equine and canine troupe. These animals seem to have human intelligence. If the professor tells the dogs to sit on chairs, prepared for them, they obey him. If he commands them to leave their chairs, they do not hesitate to do so. If he bids them to walk, run, tumble, turn somersaults, jump, they obey him. If the dogs all be in one crowd and at a distance from the professor, and he calls a particular one by his name his command is obeyed. When he addresses his dogs or ponies they pay as close attention to what he says as an audience does to a public speaker. When the ponies are performing the dogs sit on their chairs and view the performances with seeming delight and occasionally bark as though they were applauding the pony performances. The performances of the little ponies and dogs defy adverse criticism. Their every action is simply wonderful. The manner in which the ponies perform their drill speaks volumes for their intelligence, at the same time proving that Professor Gentry is a master in the art of training animals. Every dog and every pony performs his os her part to perfection.

The troupe consists of sixty-two dogs, twenty-four ponies, and thirty people who live in a little world all their own. They occupy three cars, which are divided up into apartments and fitted with every convenience for comfort. The company as a whole is the largest and finest and is being patronized by thousands af our very berspeople in Atlanta, and taken altogether, it is a very entertaining two hours perform ance.

Protracted Meeting.

Dr. Purser continues to draw large crowds at the West End Baptist. The meeting is the most interesting held in West End for years, and judging from the interest manifested, much good is being done. Almost the entire community of West End have united in the services, and quite a large number from the country near by and from the city attend regularly.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association will give Mr. C. A. Lackleider, the popular secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, and his lovely bride an informal reception upon their arrival in Atlanta, after a pleasant trip through the north and east.

The reception will be held at their beautiful new home, No. 522 South Pryor street, October 21st, from 6 to 11 o'clock p. m.

Well, they may not actually make the man, but they do make the man look more civilized. What will make a man look more dressy than one of our Clay Worsted GIRLS' AND BOYS' SHOES cutaways at $20, $22.50, $25, and $27.50? They are made in "Regular" cuts to fit the handsome symmetrical figure, in 'Long and Slims' to fit the man who like King Saul towers head and shoulders above all in Israel, and in "Stouts" to fit the short "fullbosomed" man. The long and short of it is we have everything heart could desire or good taste sug-gest, in the clothing line. To look is to buy.

The Markets.

The Markets.

The grocery market shows much activity and infinite variety. The housekeeper should have no trouble in providing an abundant and varied fare. We notice the finest mackerel ever brough to this market. They are mess mackerel, very fat and weigh from 11-2 to 2 pounds apiece. It is a sign of Atlanta's growth to see such mackerel upon our market. If you wish a treat for breakfast call on W. R. Hoyt, at 90 Whitehall street, and buy one. We also notice at Hoyt's store the new crop New Orleans syrup. It has that fine cane flavor which can only be found in this syrup and at this time of the year. New Orleans syrup naturally suggests buckwheat cakes, and brings up the memory of last winter's savory dishes. It is rather early to expect new crop buckwheat, but it can be found at the same place. The people are already inquiring as to the time when new crop raisins, etc., would be in. They are now in the market. Hoyt has just received a large shipment of them, and they are remarkably fine this season. He sells the new crop cooking raisins for 15 cents. They are a large stemless raisin, rich and of good quality. The seedless raisin is another variety that finds favor with many. The English currants have been started at 10 cents per pound, or three pounds for 25 cents, and at that low price are immensely popular. We notice, also, the cleaned currants. Those who have spent a whole day in cleaning them will appreciate how much labor and time cleaned currants save the house-keeper. They are a put up in one pound packages, with great care and cleanliness and sell at the low price of fifteen cents. Figs. dates and citron of the new crop will commend themselves to many.

dates and citron of the new crop will commend themselves to many.

There has been a great deal of trouble during the past summer to get fresh cereals, but the new goods are in market now. Fresh rolled oats, in bulk and in packages; cracked wheat, parched farinose barley and head rice, are all fresh and of the best quality at Hoyt's. You can find the boneless codfish pure and white; also, Boston beans, either fresh or put up in Boston, in three pound cans.

Every lady enjoys looking at Hoyt's homemade preserves and jellies. The fig. strawberry, raspberry and blackberry preserves are fine as they can be made from pure fruit and granulated sugar. Every housekeeper should take note of the variety, quality and price of W. R. Hoyt's goods. It will save her time, trouble and money and by giving a well-selected and varied stock to select from will make the buying of groceries a pleasure.

SHRINERS. PILGRIM

They Went to Macon Where Honors Were Conferred.

THE E. T. V. & G. FURNISHES A SPECIAL

Potentate H. C. Stockdel and Many Lesse Lights on Board-A Big Parade in the Central City.

Just at five minutes after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the East Tennessee spe cial, containing 150 Mytic Shriners, left the union depot for Macon.

The shriners of Macon are looking for-ward to this visit and a special messenger from that city mounted on a swifter footed camel reached Atlanta just as the train was pulling out. He was persuaded to the his camel to the rear car and join the Atlanta Arabs in their soft-cushioned coaches.

In Macon the honors were conferred upon twenty-five candidates. The ceremonies lasted about three hours and the whole thing from beginning to end was a huge surprise party to the novices. Captain Clem, of the United States army, stationed at Fort McPherson, had the honors conferred upon him.

Upon the arrival of the Atlanta Shriners in Macon at 2.50 o'clock in the afternoon, there was a Shriners' parade. A banquet followed the exercises and at 2 o'clock in the morning the visiting Shriners were escorted to their special train and they will arrive in the city this morning in time for breakfast.

Among the kindred spirits who took the Macon trip were Captain Joyner. Park Woodward, C. J. Weinmeister, Forrest Adair, Major McCullom Charley Kight, Clark Howell, Sr., J. F. Blodgett and others whose names have appeared.

to Hear Monsieur Leon Florestan.

The distinguished French actor, Monsieur Leon Florestan, of Paris, will have a delightful programme for the literature-loving Atlantians who attend his recital at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association tonight.

The officers of the Young Men's Christian Association are fortunate indeed, to have secured such an entertainment.

The programme will be as follows:

1. Phedre, Fragedie, en cing actes par Jean, Racine, en Francais.

2. Selections from the Merchant of Venice—Shakespeare—in which Monsiber Florestan will appear as Shylock.

3. Selections from Hamlet—Shakespeare—in which he will take a part from the character of Hamlet.

These recitals of Monsieur Florestan have been most highly spoken of everywhere.

SELECTION OF THE PROPERTY OF T

Those Five Dollar Children's Suits.

They touch the popular pulse. Just the right styles and cloths for now. We made an extraordinary effort to produce an immense variety of children's suits which could be popularized at FIVE DOLLARS.

People are turning to them delightedly. They are marvels of goodness and cheapness. The greatest bargains we ever offered. They come just in the nick of time to do the most good. We make the price so sweepingly low because so many thousands of them are to be sold. We unhesitatingly affirm that they are decidedly the best values which were ever advertised as "specials" in any Southern retail market.

TAILORING.

The Tailoring Department is in regal trim for particular men. The most beautiful and peerless gathering of Suitings and Trouserings ever exhibited even by us. Business has been unusually active, and we accelerate the already strong movement by doing work thoroughly, promptly, and at prices consistent with an economic spirit.
